

I am opposed to the proposal to allow telephone companies to discontinue common-carrier DSL services. Granting them monopoly power in DSL would be anti-competitive, unjust, and detrimental to the strength of the Internet.